Data for the program shows that 69 percent of graduates are employed, 61 percent of employed graduates are employed in a related field, 62 percent in full time positions. (Graduate Employment Report, 2018-2019 of students who graduated in 2017-2018)

3.8. Who hires graduates of this program? Who are the employers? (Provide examples)

As a result of the increase in cyber security–related attacks, employer demand for information systems security professionals is increasing, and growth is projected to continue. A Global Information Security Workforce Study (GISWS) indicated the North American shortage of cyber security professionals is due to the lack of qualified people. The 2015 GISWS concluded that the information security workforce shortfall is widening. The estimated shortfall is 1.8 million by 2022.

3.9. What is the program’s/institutions reputation with employers in the industry/sector?

In a word, excellent, among employers and the community at large. Many employers look specifically for a George Brown diploma. And practitioners already employed in the field are often expected to return to school to acquire the diploma.

With regard to the College in general, in a 2006 Environics poll on post-secondary institutions in Ontario, Greater Toronto Area residents (who themselves or whose family members are in college or are college-bound) name George Brown the province’s “best college.” Most respondents, when asked which college they would attend, make George Brown their top pick. (The next most popular college trails George Brown by almost 10 points).
