The ICFF (International Contemporary Furniture Fair) in New York City is an unparalleled opportunity to view what's best and what's next for luxury interiors. A host of international exhibitors promise to inspire, educate and keep participants apprised of the latest design trends from all over the world during the conference. Architects, interior designers, visual merchandisers, and developers connect with exhibitors from around the world to view the world's finest most innovative products under one roof.

Students who participate in this conference will receive partial credit for DSGN 3011 or DSGN 3021. A reflective paper will be required upon return to complete course credit.
